

Networking session for young entrepreneurs

Peter Ramothwala

BUSINESS Chain 2008 hosted their first networking session aimed at young-at-heart entrepreneurs and individuals who are willing to share their steps throughout the journey of their success. The event was held at the Protea hotel in Midrand on Saturday night.

The theme for the occasion was 'Each One Teach One'. The main aim was to share and map ideas to assist those who are still new in the business world establish themselves.

According to the event organiser, Sandi Maqoqa the aim of this event was to ensure that people of diverse careers and talents network and share their potential where possible and get the opportunity to grow their businesses.

"The event is scheduled to take place annually and we appeal to various business people to share their successful stories in this regard," said Maqoqa.

Businesspeople: Mammotsa Makhene (Manager of Stokvel Tourism); Nomusa Cembi (Editor of Stokvel Times and Township Property magazines); Sandi Faith Maqoqa (event organiser); David Crawford (Chairman QSI Holdings (Pty) Ltd) and Emmanuel Mulangira (Director CardX SA).
